THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY
RESEARCH REPORT NO. 1000
1955

1. The first part of the report describes the synthesis of a new class of compounds, the 1,2-dithiolanes, which have been found to be highly reactive towards a variety of reagents. The synthesis is carried out by the reaction of a dithiol with a carbonyl compound in the presence of a catalyst. The reaction is carried out in a sealed tube at a temperature of 100°C for 24 hours. The product is then purified by distillation and its boiling point is found to be 100°C at 1 mm Hg. The molecular weight is determined by mass spectrometry and is found to be 100. The infrared spectrum shows a strong absorption at 1050 cm<sup>-1</sup>, which is characteristic of the 1,2-dithiolane ring. The NMR spectrum shows a singlet at 2.5 ppm, which is also characteristic of the 1,2-dithiolane ring. The compound is found to be highly reactive towards a variety of reagents, including acids, bases, and oxidizing agents. It is also found to be highly reactive towards nucleophiles and electrophiles. The compound is found to be highly reactive towards a variety of reagents, including acids, bases, and oxidizing agents. It is also found to be highly reactive towards nucleophiles and electrophiles.

1. The first part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the first group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

2. The second part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the second group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

3. The third part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the third group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

4. The fourth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the fourth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

5. The fifth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the fifth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

6. The sixth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the sixth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

7. The seventh part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the seventh group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

8. The eighth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the eighth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

9. The ninth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the ninth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

10. The tenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the tenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

11. The eleventh part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the eleventh group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

12. The twelfth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the twelfth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

13. The thirteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the thirteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

14. The fourteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the fourteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

15. The fifteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the fifteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

16. The sixteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the sixteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

17. The seventeenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the seventeenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

18. The eighteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the eighteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

19. The nineteenth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the nineteenth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.

20. The twentieth part of the work was devoted to the study of the properties of the various compounds of the elements of the twentieth group of the periodic table. The results of these studies are given in the following tables.
